Financial Highlights

Total revenue was $11.7 million for the three months ended June 30, 2017, which included subscription revenue of $11.4 million and other revenue of $0.3 million. Total revenue in the second quarter of 2016 was $11.6 million, which included $11.4 million of subscription revenue and $0.2 million of other revenue. Total revenue in the six months ended June 30, 2017 was $23.8 million, which included $23.0 million of subscription revenue and $0.8 million of other revenue. Total revenue in the six months ended June 30, 2016 was $24.4 million, which included $22.8 million of subscription revenue and $1.6 million of other revenue. Subscription revenue in 2017's second quarter and in the six months ended June 30, 2017 grew 0.5% and 0.9%, respectively, over the corresponding 2016 periods. The second quarter 2017 marks the first quarter since March 2016 in which the Company posted total revenue growth on a year over year basis.

Net income was $0.4 million, or $0.03 per diluted share, for the three months ended June 30, 2017 as compared to net income of $0.9 million, or $0.08 per diluted share, for the corresponding 2016 period. Net income was $0.9 million, or $0.08 per diluted share, for the six months ended June 30, 2017 as compared to net income of $2.5 million, or $0.22 per diluted share, for the corresponding 2016 period.

Reis Services EBITDA was $3.5 million during the second quarter of 2017, a decline from the second quarter 2016 reported amount of $4.1 million. The Reis Services EBITDA margins were 29.9% and 35.5% for the three months ended June 30, 2017 and 2016, respectively (see the "Supplemental Financial Information and Reconciliations from GAAP to Non-GAAP Metrics" section at the end of this earnings release for a definition and reconciliations of net income to EBITDA and Adjusted EBITDA for the Reis Services segment and on a consolidated basis). Reis Services EBITDA was $6.8 million for the six months ended June 30, 2017 as compared to the 2016 reported amount of $9.5 million. The Reis Services EBITDA margins were 28.5% and 38.9% for the six months ended June 30, 2017 and 2016, respectively.

Consolidated Adjusted EBITDA was $3.1 million during the second quarter of 2017, a decline from the second quarter 2016 reported amount of $3.7 million. The consolidated Adjusted EBITDA margins were 26.4% and 31.4% for the three months ended June 30, 2017 and 2016, respectively. Consolidated Adjusted EBITDA was $5.7 million for the six months ended June 30, 2017 as compared to the 2016 reported amount of $8.3 million. The consolidated Adjusted EBITDA margins were 23.8% and 33.9% for the six months ended June 30, 2017 and 2016, respectively.

Reis's CEO, Lloyd Lynford, stated, "While we didn't have the quarter we expected, Reis did realize an important objective in the second quarter by returning to positive year-over-year revenue growth. Evidence of our progress includes an improving renewal rate, annual growth in deferred revenue of 16%, and the launch of our Application Program Interface and land sales comparables. These initiatives position the Company well, supporting my steadfast confidence that the investments we have made in 2016 and 2017 will yield measurable improvement in our operating performance."

Product Highlights

The significant expected contributors to sales growth throughout 2017 and as we enter 2018 will come from Reis's recently expanded affordable housing database, the enhancements to our sales transactions database, including the addition of land transactions as of July 31, 2017 and the availability of a new delivery platform in an Application Program Interface, or API.

In August 2016, Reis introduced its ninth property type, affordable housing, with information on 176 counties in 45 metropolitan areas. Reis is the first and only provider of market information on the growing affordable housing sector. This initial coverage launch was followed by our February 2017 expansion of coverage of this property type to include information on 256 counties in 110 metropolitan areas. Our sales force made significant inroads in the fourth quarter of 2016 and the first half of 2017 selling this sector to existing banking customers and directly to affordable housing investors, and will focus on building upon those successes for the remainder of 2017 and in 2018.

A larger revenue opportunity relates to the September 2016 expansion of Reis's commercial real estate sales transactions database which now includes virtually all U.S. markets and property types, regardless of geography or sector. The new offering appeals to mortgage and property originators and underwriters, brokers and appraisers, tax assessors, and any other real estate professionals seeking the most comprehensive database of CRE transactions to source deals, search for related business, or conduct due diligence. Reis's sales transactions database includes key structural data points, including, but not limited to, address, land use code, parcel number and lot size, in addition to key transactional data points, such as buyer and seller name, sale price, sale date, deed reference, and financing details when available, as well as other critical data points and licensed photographs. We believe that these enhancements, coupled with the inclusion of land transactions in this database as of July 31, 2017, will result in increased new sales opportunities for the remainder of 2017 and in 2018 and provides Reis's salesforce with a product that is highly competitive and we expect will take market share from our competitors in the several hundred-million-dollar market for sales comparables.

During the second quarter of 2017, Reis completed development of an API. The API is a system that allows firms to gain access to Reis data elements directly into internal systems without going through Reis SE. For Reis, the strategic importance of the API is threefold. First, the opportunity to deliver Reis data directly into an institution's internal systems appeals to the contract signers and executives responsible for maximizing the productivity of originators, underwriters, or analysts, replacing the need to manually re-key data into internal forms. Second, the API integrates Reis data into clients' processes to increase adoption and heighten the probability of longer-term contractual relationships. Finally, Reis's API is responsive to many of the challenges and opportunities stimulated by FinTech and related technologies, as well as heightened regulatory scrutiny.

Other product rollouts in 2017 include enhanced property comparables reports in our other sectors consistent with improvements made in 2016 for the apartment and office sectors. Additionally, during April 2017, Reis enhanced its Market Analytics module, a tool that empowers portfolio managers and C-level executives to look for market opportunities based on Reis's forecasts at the market and submarket levels.

In order to provide insight into 2017 and 2016 relative performance, we have disaggregated total revenue into two components: "Subscription" and "Other." Other revenue specifically includes revenue related to contracts for one-time custom data deliverables and one-time fees for settlements of previous unauthorized usage of Reis data. The following tables present subscription revenue, other revenue and total revenue for the three and six months ended June 30, 2017 and 2016.

Reconciliations of Net Income to EBITDA and Adjusted EBITDA

We define EBITDA as earnings (net income) before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortization. We define Adjusted EBITDA as earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation, amortization and stock based compensation. Although EBITDA and Adjusted EBITDA are not measures of performance calculated in accordance with GAAP, senior management uses EBITDA and Adjusted EBITDA to measure operational and management performance. Management believes that EBITDA and Adjusted EBITDA are appropriate supplemental financial measures to be considered in addition to the reported GAAP basis financial information which may assist investors in evaluating and understanding: (1) the performance of the Reis Services segment, the primary business of the Company and (2) the Company's consolidated results, from year to year or period to period, as applicable. Further, these measures provide the reader with the ability to understand our operational performance while isolating non-cash charges, such as depreciation and amortization expenses, as well as other non-operating items, such as interest income, interest expense and income taxes and, in the case of Adjusted EBITDA, isolates non-cash charges for stock based compensation. Management also believes that disclosing EBITDA and Adjusted EBITDA will provide better comparability to other companies in the information services sector. However, because EBITDA and Adjusted EBITDA are not calculated in accordance with GAAP, they may not necessarily be comparable to similarly titled measures employed by other companies. EBITDA and Adjusted EBITDA are presented both for the Reis Services segment and on a consolidated basis. We believe that these metrics, for Reis Services, provide the reader with valuable information for evaluating the financial performance of the core Reis Services business, excluding public company costs, and for making assessments about the intrinsic value of that stand-alone business to a potential acquirer. Management primarily monitors and measures its performance, and is compensated, based on the results of the Reis Services segment. EBITDA and Adjusted EBITDA, on a consolidated basis, allow the reader to make assessments about the current trading value of the Company's common stock, including expenses related to operating as a public company. However, investors should not consider these measures in isolation or as substitutes for net income (loss), operating income, or any other measure for determining operating performance that is calculated in accordance with GAAP. Reconciliations of EBITDA and Adjusted EBITDA to the most comparable GAAP financial measure, net income, follow for each identified period on a segment basis (including the Reis Services segment), as well as on a consolidated basis:

Deferred Revenue and Aggregate Revenue Under Contract

Two balance-sheet based metrics management utilizes are deferred revenue and Aggregate Revenue Under Contract. Analyzing these amounts can provide additional insight into Reis Services's future financial performance. Deferred revenue, which is a GAAP basis accounting concept and is reported by the Company on the consolidated balance sheet, represents revenue from annual or longer term contracts for which we have billed and/or received payments from our subscribers related to services we will be providing over the remaining contract period. Aggregate Revenue Under Contract is the sum of deferred revenue and future revenue under non-cancellable contracts for which we do not yet have the contractual right to bill and excludes any future revenues expected to be derived from subscribers currently being billed on a monthly basis.

Deferred revenue will be recognized as revenue ratably over the remaining life of a contract for subscriptions, or in the case of future custom reports or projects, will be recognized as revenue upon completion and delivery to the customer, provided no significant Company obligations remain. At any given date, both deferred revenue and Aggregate Revenue Under Contract can be either positively or negatively influenced by: (1) the timing and dollar value of contracts signed and billed; (2) the quantity and timing of contracts that are multi-year; and (3) the impact of recording revenue ratably over the life of a multi-year contract, which moderates the effect of price increases after the first year. The following table reconciles deferred revenue to Aggregate Revenue Under Contract at June 30, 2017 and 2016, respectively. A comparison of these balances at June 30 of each year is more meaningful than a comparison to the December 31, 2016 balances, as a greater percentage of renewals occur in the fourth quarter of each year and would distort the analysis.

	June 30,
	2017	2016
Deferred revenue (GAAP basis)	$ 24,183,000	$ 20,845,000
